

ABOUT ME

I am Daria, a young graduate frontend developer, creating websites from scratch, following the set tasks and client's preferences. I am looking for remote full-time or part-time work. I am ready to work independently on a project or task, or to be part of a team. I consider my responsibility, attention to detail, self-discipline, ability to quickly learn new things, communicativeness, and ease of finding common ground as my important strengths.
